

THURSDAY, JULY 24, 1834.

The Anniversary of the "Glorious Fourth" was commemorated at Nashville (Tenn.), by a religious celebration, upon which occasion the Rev. James Guin, who was Gen. Jackson's chaplain at the Battle of New Orleans, preached a very able and patriotic sermon. The correspondent of the Journal of Commerce gives an interesting account of the discourse, and says the speaker's description of the battle of New Orleans exceeded any thing of the kind he ever heard in a public assembly. The British, by treachery, had gained the levee below New Orleans, and nothing was heard throughout that city but the shrieks of women and children, and the howls of terror. Treason stalked unabashed. Just then, only 30 hours before the cannon began to crack, General Claiborne debouched from the wilderness with 800 mounted soldiers. At first, the citizens of New Orleans thought they were the British; but when they saw the standards unfurl the eagle, they took a little courage. Eight hours afterwards, General Carroll's Tennessee militia showed the head of its column above the city, and when this body, in firm and solemn march, with thousand strong, had gone down to the defences, he hopes of New Orleans seemed to revive. In twenty-two hours after this, the series of battles began. It would be useless, he says, to attempt to follow the speaker, in his description of General Jackson's appeal to his Tennesseans, to know whether they would stand by him, "and they threw their hats around their heads and shouted that they would save New Orleans or die in the last ditch,"—or to do justice to his description of the last day's battle, when eight thousand well appointed European troops deployed in front of three thousand Americans, chiefly Tennesseans, in battle array. "I held my watch in my hand during the whole of that tremendous hour," said the speaker. It will be easy to understand what a command the speaker had by this time over an audience so excitable as Tennesseans generally are. They all most heartily subscribed to the preacher's concluding doctrine, that thankfulness became America now and forever.

The Figure Head.—We have been accused of doing injustice to the Boston Wig Party, by attributing to it the late outrage upon the frigate Constitution, which we still solemnly believe to have been executed through the instrumentality of that party. By this we do not wish to be understood as asserting that every member, or even a majority of that party, was acquainted beforehand with the exact time when the act was to be committed, or with the person's name who was to commit it, or the amount of money he was to receive for it; but we do mean to be understood as expressing a decided belief that the leaders of that party were indirectly, if not directly concerned in the very act—that they encouraged its perpetrator to commit it, if they did not actually pay him for its commission. It seems that we are not alone in this belief, and that it is not confined to the friends of the administration—for at a meeting of the Wigs of Wheeling (Va.), recently held, to take the subject into consideration, the following resolution was adopted:—

"Resolved, That we highly approve of the course pursued by the Boston Party, in removing the obnoxious figure head, from the United States ship Constitution, and that they, the Boston Party in 1834, like the Boston Tea Party of '74' deserve the thanks of the community."

If the wig party here wish to relieve themselves from the odium of this act, why do they not give up the perpetrator to the custody of the law?—and why do they continue to screen him from appropriate punishment? But aside from the conduct of the wig party, before and since the outrage, it is absurd to suppose that any individual would incur the risk and danger inseparable from the act, for the mere gratification of his personal feelings. The deed was undoubtedly paid for by some body—and, in connexion with the other circumstances, the facts that the wig party and their presses not only invited the commission of the act, but defended it after it was committed, must fix its odium upon them until they can furnish proof of their innocence, as direct and strong as that which has carried conviction of their disgraceful participation in this outrage upon the national property, to the mind of every unprejudiced man.

We understand that the Tompkins Blues, of N. York, arrived at Fisher's Hotel, Roxbury, at 8 o'clock, last evening, where they quartered for the night. They will be escorted into this city by the Mechanic Riflemen, at 10 o'clock, this morning, and pass through Washington, State, Cornhill and Tremont streets, to the Common, where they will partake of refreshments; after which, by invitation of Mr. Braman, they will visit his Bathing establishment, when they will again return to the Camp upon the Common, after which the company, together with invited guests, will be escorted to Concert Hall, and partake of a dinner at the invitation of the Riflemen.

At a celebration of the 4th inst. in Virginia, a member of the party claiming "all the religion, and all the decency," gave the following toast:—

Martin Van Buren: Would to God he was like Jonah, in the whale's belly—the whale to the d—l, the d—l in h—ll, the door locked, the key lost, and not a son of Vulcan within millions of miles to make another.

Liberal Offer.—We are informed that a gentleman is now in this city, from Maine, who expresses a willingness to give to ten of the Polish emigrants, who have recently arrived in this country, one hundred acres of good land each, if they will settle upon, and improve it, by their own industry. Particulars may be learned on inquiry at 21 State street.

Does the Secretary of the Taunton Wiggery suppose any "respectable" man would devote more than four lines to bring him into notice, at one time? Small shot for small game—and mustard seed for Martins.

The New York Board of Aldermen have ordered their Clerk to return the letter addressed to that body by the Abolitionists. The Journal of Commerce says it was treated "with great contempt."

The steamboat Connecticut was prevented from going below yesterday afternoon as advertised, by an accident to her machinery. The Hancock was substituted.

POLICE COURT.

Bridget Carney, having been "dismissed from her service place," took possession of a cellar, under an unoccupied house, in High street, and, having secured herself against some of "the ills that flesh is heir to," by a liberal supply of bread and beef, and a bottle of rum, snugly established herself in her humble quarters, by bolting, locking, and nailing up all the inlets and outlets of her underground fortress. Deeming her castle impregnable, she bade defiance to the watch, and replied to their summons to surrender, with the good old-fashioned compliment, "that she was not born in the woods, to be scared by night owls." To those who are acquainted with the touchy tempers of our civic night guards, it is hardly necessary to say, that, with fury in each eye, and vengeance on their lips, they rushed into the trenches, carried the cellar by storm, and marched off the female garrison of one to the dungeon, in double quick time.—2 months in the H. of Correction.

Mary Connelly, charged with getting sublimated upon gin and water, for her health, often than necessary, according to the best medical authorities, pleaded that "it could not be true, because she got an elegant discharge from her last place." On this occasion, she had been overcome by the unextinguishable heat of the weather, and thought it would be a good plan to counteract the effect of old Sol's intolerable rays without, by creating an artificial volcano within, and that between their mutually nullifying influences, she might enjoy a very comfortable cooling; nor was she mistaken, as she was soon found reposing on the bosom of mother earth, on the shady side of a barn, with her senses obliviously enwrapped in a sweet and refreshing slumber.—Sentence suspended.

Ephraim Dutton drove a brisk business as a cake pedlar, till he got drunk one day, and fell asleep on a door step, about the hour when the rising generation emerge, in mutinous and multitudinous hosts, from the various seminaries, where they "teach the young ideas how to shoot" their claws into an unguarded basket of gingerbread, in less than no time; after the young varlets had satiated their sweet teeth a little, they began to torment poor Eph., by way of dessert, till they tantalized him into a fury, when he floundered about like a struck whale, and bellowed like a bull pinned in a corner. It appeared that he had been dabbling in forbidden drinks, for a considerable time, and he was disposed of for three months.

Wilder's Patent Spiral Spring Strap is the long name of a short article, which gentlemen may find, by wear, and, as a necessary consequence, fancy—by inquiring of Mr. Marsh, 84 Washington street. This strap is a recent invention, and will be found to answer, admirably all the purposes for which it is intended.

The proprietors of the North Church, in Salem, have held a meeting, at which it was determined to erect a new Church, and committees were chosen to make the necessary arrangements.

Mr. J. J. Bedient has retired from his connexion with the New York Times, and Mr. Edgar W. Davies, late of the Old Countryman, has taken his place.

From Mexico.—Additional, though not later intelligence has been received at New Orleans from Vera Cruz. We subjoin the following items:—

The motto of the Republic has been changed from "God and Liberty," to "Santa Anna and Religion."

The city of Mexico is said to have declared for Santa Anna. The troops stationed at Campeche had likewise declared for Santa Anna; but it was supposed that the place would soon be re-occupied, as some government troops were on their march to it, and the two vessels of war had been ordered there. The State of Vera Cruz also declared for Santa Anna.

A conducta with $600,000, is said to have been stopped by the partisans of Santa Anna.

We learn from Mr. J. S. Wilson, from Little Egg Harbor, that the British ship Henry Gratton, fifty days from London, bound to Philadelphia, with whiskey, 200 tons of coal and 180 passengers, went ashore on Long Beach, Little Egg Harbor, on the 19th instant, and a very heavy sea running at the time, the ship bilged shortly after grounding. The Captain succeeded in getting ashore for assistance. The mate cut away her masts to keep the vessel from rolling. On Sunday the 20th inst. the wreckmaster succeeded in landing all the passengers and crew safe on the beach. The passengers are in great distress: one of the crew was badly hurt by the falling of the mast. The ship and cargo will be totally lost, but the sails and rigging saved, though in a damaged state. Mr. Wilson further states that the mate, while the captain was below, took the ship's boat with 46 passengers; he started from the ship about 6 o'clock on Saturday without any oars, rudder, or sails for the beach, the current set them in and over the breakers, and it was supposed at Egg Harbor that all hands would be lost. The mate got four of the passengers to stand upon the seats and hold up a blanket for a sail, the wind blowing on the beach. They went through all the breakers and succeeded in landing on Tucker's beach, at 10 o'clock on Saturday night, all safe. There were two passengers in the cabin—Mr. Edes and Mrs. Mathewson.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

The Cholera appears to have broken out with much virulence at several different points of the country, and apprehensions are felt that it may possibly renew its former ravages. We stated on Saturday, from private information, that it was raging at St. Johns, N. B., and had appeared also in Montreal and Quebec. The Troy Whig says that several gentlemen, who arrived in that city on Friday from Canada, as well as letters received there, states that a number of cases of cholera had occurred in the first named cities.

The Nashville Republican says, "we learn from the (Jackson) Truth Teller that several persons have recently fallen victims to this disease at Mill Point, Ky., and that a fatal case had occurred at the mouth of Sandy River, about 18 miles from Paris."

A gentleman of Hopkinsville, Ky., writes to his correspondent in this place under date of July 6th—"I have just heard alarming news from Princeton. The cholera is raging there, and the teacher of the female Institute fell yesterday in the street and died in a few hours. There were four deaths yesterday."

Since the above was in type, a gentleman direct from Princeton, states the whole number of deaths to be eight or ten, and only one violent case remained.

Since the above was in type, a gentleman who left Montreal so late as Friday last, called upon us last evening and stated that the deaths had occurred among a number of poor emigrants huddled together in a shed, and who were in a perfectly destitute situation. There had been some little agitation on account of it at Montreal, but no alarm of any consequence. The exposed situation of the sufferers, and the severe weather, (they having been exposed on the wharf to a heat of 125 deg.) were no doubt the cause of their deaths.—N. Y. Times.

Lieut. Pinkham, of the United States Navy came passenger in the ship Russell, at New Bedford, from Talchuan.

The Escort.—On Tuesday last, Mr. Sprague, our Senator in Congress, made his triumphant entry into this city, escorted by about 270 of his fellow citizens.—The first escort of the kind, witnessed by our citizens for the last twenty years, was that of President Monroe, the second, that of Gen. Lafayette. These were not the escorts of a party; nor were they got up for political effect. They were a spontaneous tribute of respect on the part of the people,—the one to the Chief Magistrate of the country, the other to the Nation's Guest, distinguished for his revolutionary services and his personal worth. But we look in vain for these distinguished services and pretensions in Mr. Sprague. His services and pretensions are those of the heated and intemperate partizan,—of the zealous and ardent advocate of the U. S. Bank. Accordingly there was something peculiarly appropriate in the character of a portion of the escort, as well as in that of the reception at the City Hall. For instance among other respectable citizens, we noticed in the escort a portion of the U. S. Bank Directors, and a large number of its customers and debtors; while, at the City Hall, in accordance with previous arrangements, Mr. Sprague was received and addressed by the President of the Branch in his own proper person. This was as it should be. And it is one of those circumstances, which disclose the true character of the proceeding. Nothing could have been more appropriate. For as it was in the service of the Bank, that Mr. Sprague had earned his honors, it was peculiarly fit and proper, that a President of the institution should be the organ of those, who bestowed them.—Portland Jeffersonian.

The Bankites in New Jersey, lately attempted to get up a public dinner at Trenton, in honor of their Senator Southard. It was given out that Messrs Webster, Poindexter, Ewing, Crockett, and other lions and bears were to unite in the feat, but notwithstanding the "universal attraction" thus offered, the whole turned out a failure—not more than seventy persons being in attendance. The Bankites were quite chop-fallen at this result, and to cap the climax of their disappointment and mortification, the guests who had been so anxiously expected, did not arrive. They were honored, however, with the presence of John Sergeant, Esq. who made a speech, which, from all accounts, must have been of the same character as the one with which he edified the public, during the session of the far-famed Whig Convention in this place.—Harrisburg Reporter.

Voice of the Country.—We have given a large portion of our to-day's paper to the publication of the proceedings of our friends in the country. In every quarter of the State, the democracy are up and doing their duty. We do not recollect to have observed on any previous occasion more spirit and unanimity of feeling than that which now prevails among our democratic brethren in the interior counties. They are fully aware of the importance of the approaching contest, and they are prepared for it. Every thing augurs the success equal to the anticipations of the most sanguine.—N. Y. Times.

Villainy.—We perceive by a hand-bill about the city, that on Monday the 14th inst., a man named Morrison, of Peacham, Vt., received of the Cashier of the Newbury Bank, Vt., a package of bills amounting to $3,900, to be delivered to Messrs Emerson, Lamb & Harvey of this city. It appears that he arrived in this city on Sunday last, and put up at No 9 Elm street. On Monday morning he went to Charlestown, for the purpose of meeting his team, with which he returned to his lodgings in Elm street. Since then he has not been seen, and there is reason to suppose he has absconded with the money. A reward of $300 is offered for the recovery of the money. Morrison is described as about the middle size, strongly marked with the small pox, and had on a blue frock coat and pantaloons, and a white hat. He is believed to be a Scotchman.—Merc. Jour.

The prospects of the Husbandman in this County, are truly flattering. The last fortnight of fine weather has produced a surprisingly agreeable change in the appearance of the crops, which promise an abundant reward for the toil spent in their cultivation. With fair prices and a ready market for all the products of industry, the national debt paid off, and the country at peace with the whole world, none but a factious disorganizer, determined to find fault without any just cause, will fail to be thankful for the blessings so richly showered upon us. Health and Prosperity pervade the whole Union—let the People rejoice and be glad.—Cooperstown (N. Y.) Jour.

The Mormon War.—Suspension of Hostilities.—By an article in the St. Louis Republican, we learn that the Mormons have declined a personal combat with the citizens of Jackson county, for the possession of the disputed territory, which they call the Holy Land, and left it for time to determine—they still maintain that that portion of the country is the true Zion, and that it may not be established for one hundred years to come.—They have taken time enough for the accomplishment of their designs, if that is the only requisite.—Balt. Gaz.

The Philadelphia Intelligencer, alluding to a rumor that Dr Cox was about visiting that city to preach his immediate abolition doctrines, expresses a hope that the rumor might be without foundation—inasmuch as his abuse of the Society of Friends in his "Quakerism not Christianity," his late impious assertion in relation to the Saviour of man, and the general recklessness of his character, would scarcely render such a visit agreeable to the Philadelphians, or safe to himself.

Praiseworthy.—We understand that a boy by the name of Hammett, yesterday fell from the Portsmouth Pier, in this town, into a deep and rapid current, and was saved by the benevolent interposition of a gentleman from Boston, who was casually upon the spot, by the name of Andrew L. Hascall. Mr. H. at the risk of his life, plunged into the current, and held the boy up, until after much delay in consequence of want of boat and oars, he was relieved.—Ports. Jour.

Baltimore, July 17th.—Lightning.—There was a slight sprinkling of the ground yesterday afternoon, during which there was a single flash of lightning, followed in a moment by a loud clap of thunder. It struck the dwelling house of Mr. G. Carson, in Pratt street, demolishing the top of the chimney and injuring the roof and tearing off the plaster of the attic story. It thence passed without doing further injury. The family were in the house at the time, but happily escaped unhurt.

Mr. Durant has returned from New York, and brought his Erostat and apparatus. He contemplates taking a flight on to-morrow week. His Amphitheatre is nearly ready, and will be an excellent place to witness the inflation of the balloon. Mr. Durant has had a number of volunteer offers to accompany him, which he has deemed it prudent to reject. Several of them were from ladies.—Trans.

On Tuesday evening, between 8 and 9 o'clock, the end of the wharf of Griggs & Liscom, and Leighton & Robbins, between Charlestown and Warren bridges, gave way, with a loud crash, and let its heavy burden of lumber and coal into the river. It was a pile wharf, of about one hundred and fifty feet in length, and had on it high piles of lumber, and an immense weight of coals. We learn the loss will not be less than $6000.—Centinel.

Melancholy Accident.—Mr. John Utley, of Chippinville, was killed instantly on Thursday last, by a blow from the wheel of his carriage, which fractured his skull. It appears that he had left his horses and carriage unfastened, and went into a house. The horses soon started, and in endeavoring to stop them, it is supposed that he stumbled, and received the fatal blow. He has left a wife and four children.

The Hon. John Forsyth, Secretary of State, arrived in town on Saturday afternoon, and has taken lodgings at Swords' Philadelphia House, Chesnut street.—Penn.

It is uncertain what will be the fashionable mode of travelling in the next century. Horses will then be as little used as oxen are at this time. But whether steam stage coaches, aerial steamboats, or air balloons, will be the fashion of those days, it is impossible to foretell.—In a land of hills and hollows, like New England, an excursion through the air would be decidedly preferable to a journey on wheels. But we are extremely alarmed at the dangers to which our posterity must be exposed. If they avail themselves of the power of steam, they will be liable to be blown sky high by the bursting of a boiler, and if they sail through the air in a vessel of silk, 'tis ten to one, that some of our heedless little great-grand-children, may break their bones or their necks, in tumbling from a balloon.—Exeter News Letter.

A French Veteran.—At the funeral solemnities in honor of Lafayette, at Fredericksburg, Virginia, the chief mourner was Mr. J. B. Herard, an aged French citizen, who was a member of the National Convention of 1792, of the Legislative Assembly which succeeded it, and a colleague of Lafayette in the Chamber of Deputies, in 1815, on the second abdication of Napoleon.—N. Y. Com.

Prince Talleyrand.—This ancient veteran and wily politician, appears to be drawing near the close of his diplomatic life. It is stated in the English journals that he has declared his intention to return to France in the spring of 1835. His advanced age, being a considerable more than four-score, will probably preclude him from again entering the arena of public life. The knowing ones give him place to Decazes.—Ibid.

Ingenious Method of Writing.—At the Hospital of Invalids, in France, is an officer, who suffered the amputation of both arms within about two inches of the shoulder joints, many years ago, greatly distinguished for his skill in penmanship. Around his body is a wide leathern strap, having a horizontal iron bar projecting from it in front, into which a pen is placed by some simple contrivance. The paper being laid before him, he writes not only beautifully, but with extreme rapidity, by the oscillatory, or in plain English, wringing motion of his body.

The Aurora, as in former times, opens the road to aspirants for facilities and fair business transactions.—We recollect the promotion of two young Philadelphians to rank in the British navy, whose sole claim to that enviable distinction, was blackguarding the democracy, and the Aurora.—Aurora.

The follies of men, when they are not down-right wicked, may be fairly laughed at; it is their natural compensation. Some folks who console themselves upon the imbecility of the editor of the Aurora, must bear to be laughed at—as it is not the first time.—Ibid.

Pat hired out in this town to work at haying. A scythe was put in his hand, and he commenced operations upon a fine piece of grass, cutting about one half, and leaving the other standing. His employer seeing this, told him it would never do. 'An' faith,' said Pat, 'it's but the first time going over it, yer honor.'—Dunstable Tel.

The two convicts that escaped from the State Prison on the fourth, have returned, or been returned to their quarters. Our correspondent was probably mistaken in stating that they borrowed horses and carriages to convey them on their journey. They went on their ten toes, like gentlemen; but in what style they came back doth not appear.—Exeter (N. H.) News Letter.

The Hon. William Wilkins arrived at Pittsburgh last week, and was received with marked attention by his fellow citizens, who have invited him to partake of a public entertainment prior to his departure for Russia. The invitation has been accepted. He will probably sail about the middle of August.—Harrisburg Reporter.

The brig Trio, Humphrey, of Portland, Me. arrived at Havana 5th. 20 miles E. of the Hole in the Wall, fell in with the scur. Gideon Lee, Hull, 21 days from New York for Mobile, on fire, by the bursting of a jar of aquafortis; sent the mate and crew on board, and after cutting up the decks, by great exertions extinguished the fire.

Lafayette.—The Army of the Independent Boston Fusiliers has been tastefully dressed in mourning decorations, as a tribute of respect to the memory of the last Major General of the Army of the Revolution, and will be open for reception of visitors on Friday afternoon.—Trans.

The Superior Court of Errors has commenced its session in this town on Tuesday last. It will then be decided, finally we trust, whether or not the law of this State relating to foreign blacks, is a Constitutional law. The decision of this question, it is to be hoped, will restore to this community its wonted peace and harmony.—Brooklyn Com. Ad.

A few days ago, while three individuals were in pursuit of a runaway negro, in this county, one of the party stumbled over a log, and, as he fell, his gun was accidentally discharged, the contents of which entering the neck of the negro, killed him instantaneously. A coroner's inquest was held over the body, who returned a verdict in accordance with the facts above stated.—Raleigh (N. C.) Star.

Yesterday, at quarter past 12 P. M. (says the Savannah Georgian of Saturday,) a water spout appeared over Back River, opposite Mr. Smet's wharf, moving eastwardly, diminishing in size, assuming a curved form, disappeared opposite Mr. Oemler's dwelling, at half past 12.—Charleston Courier.

The Montreal Advertiser of the 16th inst. says, "The weather has been extremely fine in Upper Canada.—The Coburg Star of the 7th states that the weather for a few days had been intensely hot, with an unusually clear sky and atmosphere. On the 4th of July, the guns were distinctly heard from the American shore, a distance of 60 miles."

Indiana.—This State is rapidly increasing in wealth and population. In 1820 it numbered 149,000 inhabitants—in 1830, 341,581—and at the present time, the population probably exceeds half a million. The sales of public lands in Indiana for the first three quarters of 1833 amounted to $425,371.

Extract of a letter from Newark, O., dated 16th July, "The (Ohio) Canal is so far repaired that boats can come up to this place from Cleveland, which leaves a Portage of only half a mile caused by the destruction of the Racoon Aqueduct, around which we are prepared to wagon the goods."

Naval.—Commodore Woolsey writes the Secretary of the Navy, under date of Rio de Janeiro, the 2d ult., that the officers and crew of his ship, the Natchez, were all well, and that those of the Ontario, Master Commandant Salter, were well also at the latest accounts, the 16th of May.

A new subscription of upwards of $26,000, were advanced for the University of Vermont, previous to the 1st inst. $400 were received from the ladies of Burlington, obtained at a fair in that place.

Suicide.—We learn that a Mr. Sherman, of Farmington, lately from Dutchess co., committed suicide on Monday, by hanging himself with a rope, in his barn.

Vacillating.—A wag the other day, alluding to the over-sidie and every-party policy of the Journal of Commerce, said they veered about so d—nably that they ought to pay a rent on both sides of the street.—N. Y. Trans.

A Civil Answer.—A stranger in this city, a day or two since, having lost his way, said to an awkward looking fellow, "I want to go to Dover street." "Well," replied the fellow, coolly walking on, "why the d—l don't you go then?"—Ibid.

A CARD.

WASHINGTON LIGHT INFANTRY ARMY, Boston, July 20, 1834.

The Officers and Members of the Washington Light Infantry, with sentiments of gratitude for the numerous attentions paid them during their late campaign, beg leave to return their sincere thanks.

To the members of the Portland Artillery, for the salute on their entrance into the harbor and city, and on the arrival of the company to their quarters at Mount Jay.

To the Portland Light Infantry, under the command of Capt. Capen, for the escort to the company's quarters, and from thence to a splendid breakfast provided by them.

To Messrs F. S. Hill and J. S. Jones, (managers of the Portland Theatre) for the polite invitation to visit the theatre on the evening of the 1st ult.

To the Portland Rifle Corps, under the command of Capt. Preble, for the excellent dinner provided for the company.

To the Portland Light Infantry, under the command of Capt. Capen, for the escort to the boat on the company's return from Portland.

To Lemuel Moody, Esq., of Mount Joy, for his unwearied exertions to please, and render comfortable, the members of the company while quartering at his establishment.

To Col. Cross, and other officers of Portland, for their constant attention.

To the Rockingham Guards, under the command of Capt. Hadley, for the escort from the steam boat to the company's quarters in Portsmouth.

To the Municipal Authorities of Portsmouth, for the use of the Town Hall for quarters during their stay.

To Robert Leche, Esq., for the entertainment given on the arrival of the company at Portsmouth.

To the members of the Rockingham Guards, for the splendid dinner given, and their kind and constant attention to the comfort of the company in Portsmouth, likewise to the citizens generally for their kind attention.

To Capt. Frye, of the Strafford Guards, for a polite invitation to visit Dover.

To Mr. A. Herbert, for the polite invitation to visit the Theatre, at his management at Portsmouth.

To Capt. Porter and Mr. Jackson, of the steamer Chancery, for their constant care, attention and exertions to render the passage pleasant to and from Portland. The Committee take this opportunity to recommend those gentlemen to the public for their patronage.

JOS. P. L. ROSS,
EDMUND D. CASSELL,
JAMES L. BARBER,
ALBERT F. DOW,

RODGERS' IMPERIAL STOCKS.
[Opposite the Post Office, Boston.]
WILLIAM H. ROGERS, most respectfully invites the attention of Merchant Tailors and the public generally, to his new invented Imperial Stocks for the Neck, which for ease and elegance very far surpasses every thing of the kind heretofore manufactured in this vicinity. They are cut of the materials and manner of making are quite different from those in common use, and they may be covered many times, and request exactly the same shape as when first made. W. H. R. requests permission to enumerate the usual faults in the common Stocks, viz: 1st, the very inferior materials used; 2d, their sitting away from the chin and exposing the neck, when disengaged; 3d, the edge at the bottom; 4th, the edge at the top being unevenly close, as to cause a distortion of the features by moving the head; 4th, that of their bulging out at the sides, moving the head a little downwards, which has a most disgusting appearance. By W. H. Rogers' deservedly admired and extensively patronized invention, all these faults are completely obviated. Naval and military gentlemen will find them the most pleasing and durable. Ladies will find them the most comfortable, by the dozen or single, at the lowest cash price. Riding Stocks beautifully made to order.

HOME FOR THE SICK OR LAME.—Massachusetts THOMSON INFIRMARY and Botanic Medicine Store, No 554, Washington Street, opposite the Worcester Railroad Office Boston. This Establishment is located on the corner of Boston and Worcester Rail Road, which may be seen for several miles to the west, together with the surrounding country; in the east is Boston harbor, with its Islands and Light Houses on the coast.
The rooms are large and cool, and no expense will be spared by the subscriber that will render this establishment an agreeable and useful "home for the sick," and equal to any other. Vapour Baths are in readiness at all times, with separate rooms for those who take the bath only. Persons from the country may be accommodated with board and private rooms, furnished with the bath if they wish. Statements of remarkable cures performed by the medicine and proved by reference to persons, now enjoying comfortable health, may be had at the Infirmary, and enough to satisfy any one, that instead of nineteenth century, ninety-nine hundredths receive relief, and many a perfect cure.
Books, Medicine, at usual prices.
JOHN A. BROWN, Botanic Physician, Late Superintendent of the Tremont Throat Infirmary.

NOTICE.—THE AMERICAN CORK COMPANY beg to advise the public that they have now on hand, at 105 N. B. Street, Boston, the PATENT CORK MATRESS, double and single, in great variety, and at various prices, and will furnish to order any quantity or description. These Mattresses are recommended by the most scientific men in this country, as being of great value. First, the life preserving qualities to sea-faring people are of immense value, as they will unquestionably be the means of saving life on rough and boisterous seas, as a man floats with perfect safety on rough and boisterous seas. Secondly, it is a non-conductor of heat, contagion, or filth of any kind, and is said to be the healthiest article that has been used to sleep upon, for warm climates and a summer season. They are worthy the attention of those who desire a deep sleep in the sultry season of the year, as they are said to be in January; they also will not matt or decay. The public are respectfully invited to call and examine the same, as above.

PENMANSHIP.—The subscriber has once more returned to this city, and offers his services again as an Instructor or Writing.
Terms—$3, for 12 Lessons—of which Twenty Thousand pupils, whom he has instructed within the last ten years, will attest the advantages. In all his instructions for ten years past, in different states and cities, these Lessons have been attended by the most respectable classes of school scholars, to meet their approbation and his own also, I have kept two things in view, viz: in the first place to have the strictest order and decorum in the writing room; and secondly, to give his closest attention, in order to instruct in the easiest manner, and in the shortest time possible, all who come to acquire this useful and handsome accomplishment. The general encouragement he has received in the middle, the western and northern States for many years past, has convinced him that his method of instruction, when once known, will ever be liberally supported, by all the well informed of the community. The subscriber teaches the plain running hand, and various ornamental hands, if requested. He engages to enable every pupil who conforms strictly to his directions, to write a fair and beautiful hand in three lessons.
